CLOSE TO CHICAGO &

Northern Illinois business, education and healthcare destinations

DeKalb Airport is conveniently located 60 miles west of Chicago and is directly 3 miles north from I-88 which is a direct route into the city of Chicago as well as most surrounding suburbs. We offer a courtesy car for pilots upon request.

We offer the accommodations of a suburban airport with the ease of quick turns of a smaller airport. DeKalb is the home of Northern Illinois University and offers many restaurants and businesses within a close proximity to the airport.

The City of DeKalb is also the site of the majestic Egyptian Theatre, Gurler House, and Ellwood House Museum (former home of the inventor of barbed wire.)

Testimonial

Target currently operates 30 DC's and 5 import warehouses across the country. DeKalb airport is among the best as far as our flight team is concerned. Their team always exceeds our expectations. I know that in this day of the ever decreasing budgets for airports that this is no easy task. So often airports are judged by their number of operations. In the case of the communities that Target Corporation operates their DC's this would certainly be short sighted. Your airport should be considered as the welcome mat for your community for companies like Target! I think that we have even moved our aircraft from another nearby community that could not accommodate our hangar request when the weather was inclement to DeKalb because you can always take care of our needs.

Testimonial

I am writing this to affirm my belief the DeKalb Airport in Illinois is viable and important for corporate operations such as ours. Due to the number of manufacturing facilities we have in the area and the proposed addition of more facilities, airports such as DeKalb provide us with the capability to provide plant visits and important customer relations for our VP's. Please consider these facts when deciding on the importance of airports such as DeKalb. Thank you for your time.
